Excerpt: . . . my Desk, were not hatchd in less than 7 Weeks time. Thus we see how regular the Production of a Mite is, (which was formerly lookd upon to be the smallest of Creatures,) and how admirable the Structure is of such a wonderful Animalcttlum: Wherefore those who have hitherto been big of that Vulgar Error, that a great many small Animalcula are produdd of themselves, or out of Corruption, I doubt not, but now they ways, a great many empty Husks, or Skins or Mites, which I mostly imagissd to be the Skins of dead Mites, but when I now perceivd that the dead Mites were not transparent, I began to consider whether these Mites might not shed their Skins, as well as several other Creatures: But that Matter demands a further enuiry. q After that we had had for some Days more than or dinary cold and frosty Weather, I got some Mites that: were taken from a Bladder broke in pieces, and viewd them with a Glass z and saw that some of them were dead, and others still alive, but very slow in moving. In the latter end of the Winter, I took a Glass Tube of about the length of a Span, and thickness of a common Writing Penz and I put therein three or sour Mites, which I judgd to be Female-s; and together with them a long flice of a dryd oxs Bladder, which I had laid...
