BUILDING THE HUMAN CITY (PAPERBACK)

Pickwick Publications, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Building the Human City is a first overview of the award-winning yet quite diverse works of Jesuit philosopher William F. Lynch. Writing from the 1950s to the mid-1980s, Lynch was among the first to warn against the fierce polarizations prevalent in our culture wars and political life. He called for a transformation of artistic and intellectual sensibilities and imaginations through the healing discernments and critical ironies of an Ignatian (and Socratic) spirituality. Yet the breadth of his concerns (from cinema and literature to mental health and hope to secularization and faith) as well as the depth of his thought (philosophical as much as theological) led to little initial awareness of the overall vision uniting his writings. This book, while exploring that vision, also argues that the spirituality Lynch proposes is more needed today than when he first wrote. As a college student in 1964, I was privileged to hear Fr. William F. Lynch give a lecture titled The Absolutizing Instinct. I knew immediately that Lynch could speak directly to the issues of the day without losing the wisdom of the ages. John Kane has written a long overdue, superb study of Lynch's thought, as relevant today as the lecture I heard. --James L. Heft, SM, Alton Brooks Professor of Religion; President, Institute for Advanced Catholic, USC What a gift that John Kane has interpreted William Lynch's affirming, liberating work, making it accessible to a larger audience! In global conflicts today, we must avoid the allure of simplistic clarities and images, turning instead to Lynch's carefully nuanced lens. We desperately need Lynch's critical sensitivity, insights on the civilizing forces of imagination, view of creative contraries like the secular and sacred, and...
