Not illustrated. 1867 Excerpt: .where, amid the various conditions of finite existence, is exaltation, glory, and bliss to be found equal to this? Where is glory so bright, honour so pure, example so perfect? If we take our stand on the high summit of revealed truth, contemplate the visions of faith, soar on the wings of thought through the vastness of space, survey with rapid The Human Glorious in the Divine. 177 sweep and keen glance of intellect the numerous, varied, and multiplying forms of existence, we can discover no nature so receptive of the Divine, so susceptible of the indwelling of the Infinite, so near in life and likeness to God, as humanity in the person of the Son. We behold in Christ exalted to the right hand of God the human in a oneness of personality of life, of affection, of thought, of will, of glory, and joy with the Divine. We behold on the throne of the universe, amid the splendours of Infinite Majesty and the bright effulgence of uncreated light, our own humanity. There by faith we perceive the highest reward of self-sacrificing, self-imparting, self-glorifying devotedness--there by faith we behold the consummation of the Father s desire, the perfect achievement of the deep design of the Eternal Council, the glorious realization of the darling purpose of the Divine heart; for what do we see in the presence of the Father, in the glory of being, in the bliss of immortality, in the person of God S...
