Condition: New. Publisher/Verlag: LAP Lambert Academic Publishing | Fuel cells have unique technological attributes: efficiency, minimization of moving parts and low emissions. The Direct Methanol Fuel Cell (DMFC) has attracted much attention due to its potential applications as a power source for transportation and portable electronic devices. With the advance of micromachining technologies, miniaturization of power sources became one of the trends of evolution of research in this area. Based on the advantages of the scaling laws, miniaturization promises higher efficiency and performance of power generating devices, therefore, Micro-DMFC is an emergent technology. There has been a growing interest in the development of this type of micro cells in the last years, resulting both in experimental studies (operating conditions, cell design and new materials) and in modeling studies. Despite the increase in the knowledge acquired, many challenges are still to be reached. This book provides a detailed comprehensive review both on fundamental and technological aspects of Micro-DMFC. Special attention is devoted to systematization of published results on experimental area and also to a special section dedicated to modeling studies. | Format: Paperback | Language/Sprache: english | 86 gr | 220x150x3 mm | 52 pp.
