By Puritan Publishing Company

Forgotten Books, 2018. Hardback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Battle of Gettysburg: Gen. Longstreet's Repulse, July 3, 1863 This notice will apprise the reader of the successful completion of one of the most intricate and expensive art enterprises ever attempted in this country - the steel engraving of the Battle of Gettysburg. This beautiful work of art, in the painting and engraving, is the result of years of skilled labor, and thousands of dollars expense; and, notwithstanding it has consumed double the original time estimated for completion, and treble the cost of execution, it has been thoroughly and honestly done, without unnecessary delay. It will be interesting to the possessor of this engraving to know that it is not the result of painted imagination; but was executed by practical men familiar with war in all its details, and who fully appreciate the importance of historical accuracy.
