Excerpt from The Dying Pillow: The Last Days of Infidels and Christians Contrasted Then know, whatever thou hast been, twere something better not to be. The learned and courted infidel, the brilliant French man, voltaire (born 1694 died 1778) has left us his view of life in the following words In man there is more wretchedness than in all animals put together. He loves life, and yet he knows that he must die. If he enjoys a transient good, he suffers various evils, and is at last devoured by worms. This knowledge is his fatal prerogative; other animals have it not. The bulk of mankind are nothing more than a crowd of wretches equally criminal and unfortunate, and the globe contains carcasses rather than men. I tremble at the review of this dreadful picture, to find that it contains a complaint against Providence itself, and I wish I had never been born.
