Reviews

This ebook is worth acquiring. Better then never, though i am quite late in start reading this one. You will not truly feel monotony at at any time of your own time (that's what catalogues are for about if you ask me).

Excerpt from the Prologue: Stretched at full length, on the great divan of a studio, cigar in mouth, two friends a poet and a painter were talking together one evening after dinner. It was the hour of confidences and effusion. The lamp burned softly beneath its shade, limiting its circle of light to the intimacy of the conversation, leaving scarcely distinct the capricious luxury of the vast walls, cumbered with canvases, hangings, panoplies, surmounted by a glass roof through which the sombre blue shades of the night penetrated unhindered. The portrait of a woman, leaning slightly forward, as if to listen, alone stood out a little from the shadow; young with intelligent eyes, a grave and sweet mouth and a spiritual smile which seemed to defend the husband's easel from fools and disparagers. A low chair pushed away from the fire, two little blue shoes lying on the carpet, indicated also the presence of a child in the house; and indeed from the next room, within which mother and child had but just disappeared, came occasional bursts of soft laughter, of childish babble; the pretty flutterings of a nest going off to sleep. All this shed over the artistic interior a vague perfume of family happiness which the poet breathed in with delight: Decidedly, my dear fellow he said to his friend, you were in the right. There are no two ways of being happy. Happiness lies in this and in nothing else. You must find me a wife! This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
