Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Nothing Without Labor: Being the Motto of the George Junior Republic, Located at Freeville, New York The George Junior Republic is a village exactly like any other village in the United States of America, excepting that in the Junior Republic the voting citizens are youths of both sexes from 16 to 21 years of age. The laws of New York State and such additional laws as the young citizens may enact in their own meetings are the laws of the Junior Republic. In no single instance does this little community resemble an institution. In fact, the Junior Republic is diametrically opposed to the institution idea. To demonstrate how little the Junior Republic looks like an institution absolute strangers motoring in this neighborhood will stop and inquire if it is one of the villages located in this vicinity. As the Junior Republic resembles an American village architecturally, so it likewise bears resemblance in its social, civic and economic aspects. The motto of the Junior Republic is Nothing Without Labor. This means that every young person residing...
