Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Our National and Financial Future: Address of Hon. Hugh McCulloch Secretary of the Treasury, at Fort Wayne, Indiana, October 11, 1865 Accept, Mr. President, and you, gentlemen, my sincere thanks for i the honor you have done me in inviting me to this entertainment, and for the sentiment to which you have responded. From the day I entered Fort Wayne - a stranger in a strange land - I have been treated by its citizens with a kindness and consideration altogether beyond my merits, and for which I shall ever be grateful. But no trust that has ever been reposed in me, and no kindness of which I have been the recipient, has touched my heart so sensibly as this demonstration of your respect. I lack the language to express; to you, Mr. President, and to you, gentlemen, my obligations for this evidence of your personal regard, and this testimonial of your appreciation of the manner in which I am discharging the duties of the very important position to which I was last spring unexpectedly called. I can only return to you my sincere thanks, and pledge to you my best efforts so to perform my official duties as to reflect no discredit upon my friends in Fort Wayne, whose good opinion I so highly value. Next to my desire to acquire and leave behind mo a reputation that my children may not be ashamed of, has been my desire so to perform the duties that may be devolved upon me that my friends in Indiana, those with whom I have been connected by social and business ties, would have no occasion to blush for...
