

Any Resemblance to Actual Persons

By Kevin Allardice

Counterpoint LLC. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 240 pages. Dimensions: 0.0in. x 0.0in. x 0.0in. In the spirit of Motherless Brooklyn or Remains of the Day, Allardice offers up a searing and memorable debut. When Paul McWeeneys older sister writes a book accusing their late father of committing the gruesome Black Dahlia murder, based on memories her new therapist has helped her recover--or imagine--he sits down to write a cease and desist letter to the publishers. Paul hopes to refute his sisters claims about their fathers role in the infamous 1947 murder, arguing for his own divergent memory of their Hollywood childhood by way of defending their fathers name and legacy. But the letter begins to take on a life of its own, and Paul, a failed novelist and community college writing instructor, soon finds himself on an obsessive, elliptical exploration of both his familys history and his own conflicted memory, which begins to absorb his daily life and threaten his relationships with those closest to him. The letter becomes not the intended refutation but rather a disturbing and wildly comical psychological self-portrait of a man caught between increasingly unstable versions of the past.
