

Tony Mendoza: Flowers

By MENDOZA, Tony

Nazraeli Press LLC, in association with The Joy of Giving Something (JGS), Portland, Oregon, 2007. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. 1st Edition. First edition, first printing. Hardcover. Fine gray cloth-covered boards with tipped-in four-color plate on cover and title stamped in gray on cover and spine. Photographs and text by Tony Mendoza. Includes a biography and a list of plates. Unpaginated (64 pp.), with 50 four-color plates beautifully printed in China on fine matte art paper. 12-1/8 x 17-7/8 inches. This first edition was limited to 1000 copies. New in publisher's shrink-wrap. From the publisher: "Tony Mendoza's name is for many synonymous with that of his beloved cat Ernie, made famous by the 1985 publication of the same name. In the summer of 2004, Mendoza closed down his black and white darkroom and purchased a digital camera. On his first outing with the new equipment, he began photographing his wife Carmen's plot at the community garden near their Columbus, Ohio home. Accustomed to looking -- through his years of photographing cats and dogs from their own perspective -- at the world from a low vantage point, he photographed the flowers, ants, bees and weeds from a worm's eye view. Mendoza continued..."

Reviews

This publication is amazing. It is definitely basic but shocks in the fifty percent of your publication. You wont feel monotony at anytime of your own time (that's what catalogues are for concerning if you question me).
